Dear Trading Partner,

This year, we were once again delighted to be able to celebrate a really special award: The German paper, office supplies and stationery specialist trade selected us as its number-one specialist trade partner for the 11th time in a row. We would like to continue to be at your side at all times as a reliable partner in the future, and to support you in writing the next chapters of your success story with edding.

In doing so, we will focus primarily on the expansion of our marketing activities and of our product range, which we are continually adapting to the demands of our users. One example here is the creative range, where we have already managed to position ourself as a strong brand with our durable, authentic and creative products, and which has recently been expanded to include the new Colour Happy Boxes. The edding 1340 brushpen is also a real asset in the current trend of hand-lettering. With flexible brush style nibs, these pens can make decorative writing on light paper look particularly effective. We put a lot of value on the consistent quality of our products, and would like to always be able to offer you the right product for your particular area of application. This is a claim that sets us apart from the competition, and one that we have been consistently pursuing for 57 years.

We offer our customers a wide range of products for all application areas and virtually all surfaces, whether for writing, marking, organising, presenting, repairing, correcting or designing. And we are always aware of our responsibility towards the environment: With our EcoLine series, for example, we are continuing our long-standing commitment to the environment at product level. In addition to a highlighter with a cap and barrel where at least 90% is made from renewable resources, the EcoLine range also features permanent, whiteboard and flipchart markers in which at least 90% of the total plastic used is made from recycled materials. We also use sustainable packaging materials and avoid production waste as far as possible.

Ensuring awareness of the diversity of our product range requires not only smarter solutions, but also your competence as a trade partner in providing end customers with optimal advice. We would therefore like to sincerely thank you for your excellent cooperation and dedication. We look forward to a successful future and to working with you to continue the edding success story.

Kind regards,

Per Ledermann
CEO edding
